Haliburton County's new parking bylaw has raised some questions about Minden's ability to enforce restrictions on County Roads—especially at the Minden Wild Water Preserve. Please see page 15

Mount Minden

Once described as one of the most visible landmarks in the Highlands, 'Mount Minden' may soon experience commercial and residential development. Local investors have some bold plans for the area. Please see page 6.

New Store

With very little fanfare, Minden's new Home Hardware store was opened last Thursday. The new facility has plenty of retail floor space to house an array of goods. Please see page 11.

Play

The Highlands Little Theatre took a daring step into uncharted ground by playing out its first drama. The three-night play won audience acclaim last week. Please see page 13.

Council debates development

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Spring is a time of new beginning and evidence of this can be seen in many of the pastures throughout the Highlands where newborn foals trail along close to their mothers. Over the holiday weekend, two of Bob Vick's mares had foals. A few hours after this one was born, it still wasn't sure-footed enough to stand on its own without some help. Before too long, the Vicks will have four of these young Belgian steeds grazing in their field near Gelert.

Conflicting views of development in Anson, Hindon and Minden among council members have led to a dispute between the Reeve and the Deputy-Reeve over recommendations from the Planning Advisory Committee.

The dispute developed into a heated argument at last Thursday's council meeting when two severances, which had been turned down by the planning committee, appeared before council for reconsideration.

The first property brought to council's attention is owned by Tom Reddering and is located near Ingold-sby. Reddering is proposing severing the nine-acre parcel into two 4.5-acre lots.

But at its May 17 meeting the Planning Advisory Committee recommended that the proposed severance be turned down because committee members felt it did not meet the criteria set out in Minden's Official Plan.

Reddering told council that his severance had met with approval from the Health Unit, the Ministry of Natural Resources, and he had received permission from County to put entrances on County Road 18. He said the advisory committee had turned it down on the basis of the a stream which runs through the front portion of his property.

The front section of Reddering's parcel is zoned hazard lands because of the stream but he said that amounted to about three quarters of an acre while the rest of the property is suitable for building.

The committee told Reddering that because the stream ran through his property and emptied into Canning Lake, there would be a risk to the environment from septic systems built on the land. But Reddering argued that he had Health Unit approval and it's the health unit which is responsible for appraising any negative impact on the environment.

Legal dispute delays final purchase of Industrial Park

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The development of Anson, Hindon and Minden's proposed new industrial park has hit a snag.

At Thursday's meeting of council it was revealed that there is some dispute over the wording of the purchase agreement between the township's lawyer, Fraser Rogers, and the lawyer for Wally and Joan Bunn, the people selling the 97-acre parcel of land to the municipality.

According to Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry, the township's lawyer has recommended that a clause be added to the agreement but Bunn's lawyer does not feel the injection is necessary.

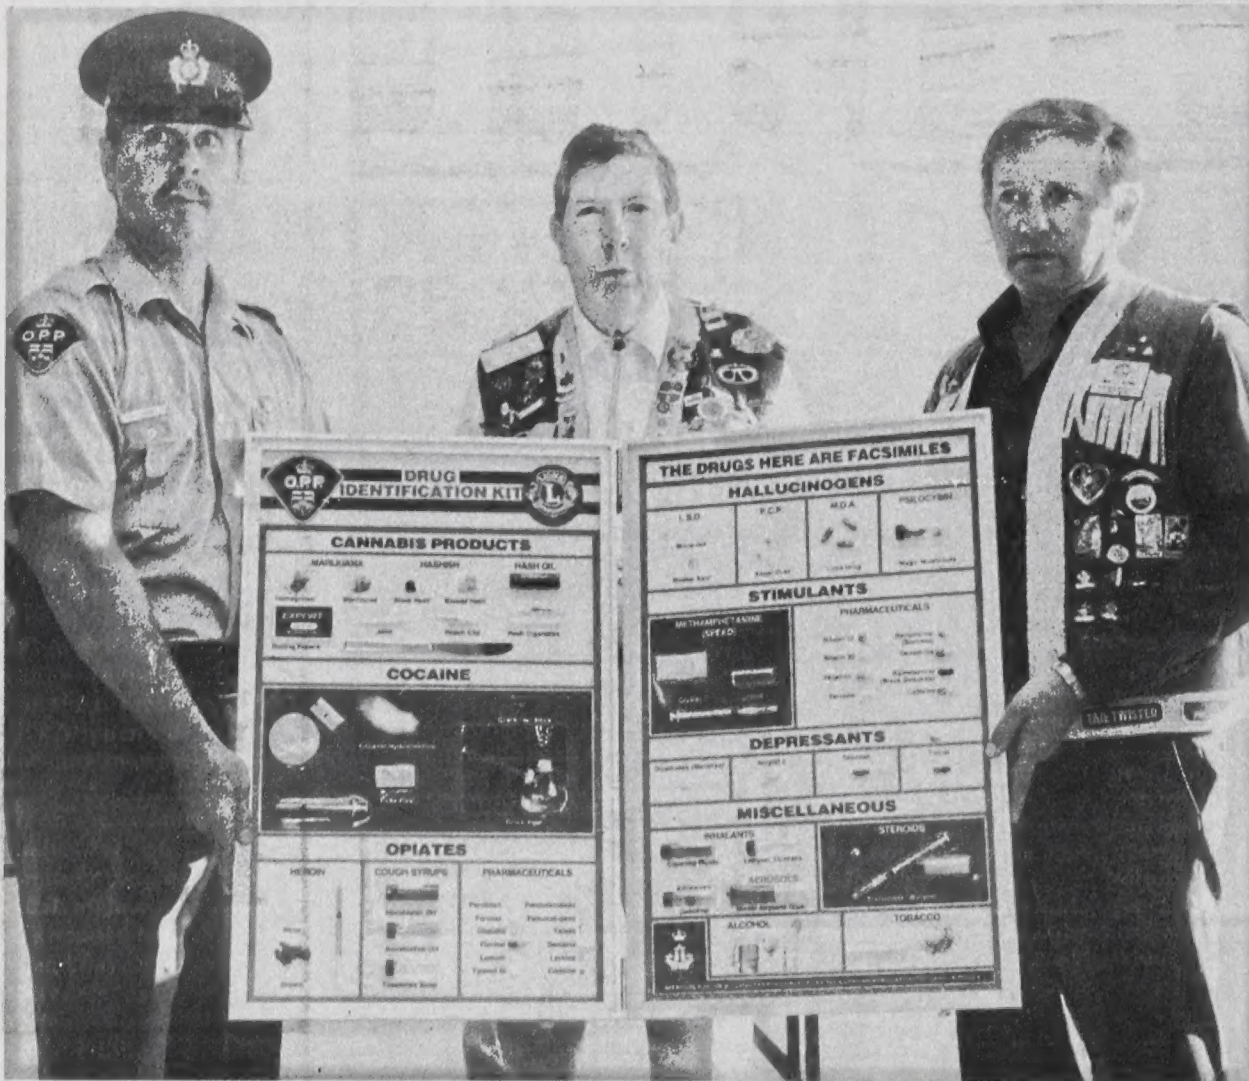

The township refuses to reveal the nature of the disputed clause or why it is holding up finalization of the agreement but Reeve Ray Moore has offered to meet with Bunn and try to negotiate a settlement.

There has been progress made in the activation of the Minden Industrial Committee which will oversee the sale of the more-than 40 lots. The members of the committee have been selected and Bill Payne has been chosen as the chairman. The committee asked that council provide them with a mandate so they may begin reviewing applications from prospective buyers. On Thursday the last of the suggested mandates was submitted to Moore and the reeve said all the proposals look good. The councillor's suggestions will now be sent to the committee so a formal mandate can be drawn up.

According to Chief Building Official Brad Bradamore there have been 18 inquiries by people interested in buying one of the industrial lots when they eventually become available.

Minden Lions help OPP with drug program

The Minden and District Lions Club has joined the fight against drug abuse in Haliburton County by purchasing a drug identification board for the Minden OPP. Constable Mike Maybee, left, accepts the board from Lions President Lee Oster and Lion Wally Bunn, who was responsible for organizing the fundraising and purchase of the board.

The Minden and District Lions Club has provided the local detachment of the OPP with a new weapon in the fight against illegal drug use.

The Lions have purchased a drug display board that will be used in drug education programs to help people identify various types of narcotic substances.

The purchase is part of a province-wide effort by the Lions to promote and support drug awareness. The board was presented to Minden OPP's Communication Officer Mike Maybee who will include the display in the drug awareness presentations he gives in local schools and to interested groups.

"The board will be used to demonstrate what the various types of drugs look like and may satisfy some of the curiosity that people might have," says Maybee.

Maybee said the new board will allow him to give a more complete presentation. "It's nice to be able to say 'that's what the drugs look like,'" he says.

The display does not have samples of the actual drugs but has substances that closely resemble the illegal substances. The display is broken down into various categories of drugs and has a special section highlighting cocaine and its derivative crack.

The OPP's drug education program is being taught in elementary schools at the Grades Four, Six and Eight levels and is also being taught in a Grade 11 class at the high school.

When not in use, the board will be on public display in the foyer of the OPP's Minden detachment on Highway 35.

The Lions were able to take advantage of their donation last Wednesday night when Maybee attended their meeting and gave a drug awareness presentation.

Lion Wally Bunn was the co-ordinator of the purchase and said the Minden chapter of the club was eager to get on the ball with the program.

Committees

The authority of appointed committees in Minden is being carried too far, thanks to the long-standing logic of councillors who believe there's no point in having committees if council is going to question their recommendations.

Committees are a valuable resource for municipal councils because they help trim the workload that can sometimes be overwhelming. But to accept any and all recommendation made by these non-elected bodies serves to foil the purpose of an elected council.

The question of what authority committees should be granted was raised again at last Thursday's Minden council meeting. The Planning Advisory Committee had recommended that council turn thumbs down on Tom Reddering's severance proposal for environmental reasons even though better qualified bodies had had cleared any environmental concerns.

Whether or not the committee's recommendation was correct is not the question, though. It acted within its rights by foregoing such outside advice in making the final recommendation to council.

On the same token, though, if council members see fit they can disregard the advice provided by the committee. After all, that's what committees are for—to provide advice. In this case, the word "Advisory" is even part of the committee's name. It's council's job to hear that advice, to weight all the information, and to make a decision.

Unfortunately, some feel it is the committee's job to make the decisions. After listening to all sides in regards to Reddering's severance application, council failed to do its job. Instead of making the decision, they shuffled the whole thing back to the committee to do the job for them.

"Why have committees if we're not going to listen to them," is the question tossed out by council members far too often. Perhaps, then, the question we should be asking is why have elected councillors who only serve to delegated the decision-making.

In this circumstance, the committee had already done its job by making a recommendation to council. Instead of passing this issue back to the committee, councillors should have done the job they were elected to do and make the decision.

Three cheers for Man, the Monument Maker!

Just pause for a moment and ponder the magnificent structures this little hairless biped has built with his soft pink hands. Let's see now ... there's the Pyramid of Cheops, the Sphinx, the Great Wall of China, the mighty ziggurates of Ancient Assyria...

France has La Tour Eiffel, Germany the Autobahns, Britain can point to Stonehenge and the palatial splendours of Buckingham and Windsor...

American stone chisels have transformed the face of Mount Rushmore into monstrous portraits of presidential heroes. And here too! We Canucks have also dared to dream on the Extra Large scale. Did we not give the world the CN Tower? The Sudbury Nickel? The Wawa Goose?

by Arthur Black

But my friends, all these artifacts look positively puny when compared with the breathtaking grandeur of a monument taking shape on Staten Island, New York even as I type these words.

The monument is not yet finished. It is rising phoenix-like out of an abandoned gravel quarry and already it has passed ground level. Twelve miles away in Manhattan, harried executives peering out the windows of their high rise office buildings can perhaps, on a clear day, just make out a faint bulge on the earth's surface.

For a city that's world famous for its cynicism, New York's commitment to this new monument is heart tugging to behold. Each day, five thousand truckloads of offerings unload their contributions before the monument. Each day 25 huge barges wallow to its base, laden to the gunwhales with more material to make the monument even higher, ever grander.

And who contributes these offerings? Is it Donald Trump? Mayor Ed Koch? Some shady cabal of Wall Street power brokers? No. It is each and every average

HCSA vice president feels maligned

Editor:

Being referred to as a "woefully misinformed partisan of snowmobiling" by Ms. Lawrence of Haliburton in last week's "letters to the editor" has prompted me to respond with some thoughts for your readers to consider.

Over ten years ago the International Snowmobile Industry Association (I.S.I.A.) addressed the environmental impact of responsible recreational snowmobiling. At that time, an indepth study was undertaken on the effects of trails used by snowmobiles, skiers, snowshoers, and wildlife such as moose and deer. The results of this study showed no environmental damage occurred from any of the aforementioned travelling over the snow. If "micro-organisms" are dying by the thousands, I suspect they have been doing so long before the arrival of the snowmobile on the winter scene. The suggestion that snowmobiles are contributing to acid rain, lead pollution, heavy metal pollution and contaminating our water supplies is as bizarre as it is ludicrous. Jet aircraft, automobiles, outboards, stern drives, lawn mowers, chain saws and oil furnaces all contribute to pollution. The suggestion that snowmobiles are a major contributor is ridiculous. The real problem right now is the continued safe and co-operative use of snowmobiles in our county. The corridor loop is the best answer to this important concern. But let's not cloud the issue with facts.

The real "problem" with snowmobiles is they are contributing to the development of Haliburton County, after reading letters to the editor on a wide variety of topics it appears some residents fear their "pristine" county is going to be utterly decimated by the arrival of summer and winter tourists. Hmmm? Ms. Lawrence reflects this attitude by saying snowmobiling's economic gains are "minimal". Ten million dollars coming into our county in a time when business is normally slow is hardly minimal. For those of us who require a job to make ends meet, snowmobiling is very important.

The H.C.S.A. fully realises we will never convince Ms. Lawrence of snowmobiling's benefits. Frankly, I think the attitude shown in last week's letter does nothing more than state Ms. Lawrence's bias against the shared use of our county. However, the H.C.S.A.

does take exception at attempts to malign snowmobiling and misinform the general public. The truth is, the corridor loop is going to make snowmobiling in Haliburton safer and more enjoyable for those who snowmobile and those who don't. Snowmobiling has been increasingly popular in Haliburton for 20 years. The H.C.S.A. is committed to providing safe recreational activity for the thousands of residents and visitors who make Haliburton County their place to snowmobile.

Haliburton is already the most popular snowmobiling area in Ontario and the northeastern United States, with 2,575 members and nearly 100 businesses supporting the H.C.S.A., we have become the envy of tourist areas all over the snowbelt. The 22 men and women who run the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association are responsible and dedicated volunteers who make an enormous contribution to this county. I am proud to be one of them.

Mark Lester,
Vice President,
H.C.S.A.

Chip support

Editor:

I had to write in regard to the article I read about Mr. Chip truck. I personally do not know the person, nor have I bought any of his products but I must say I had to laugh at the excuses they (BIA) used in order to "ship him out".

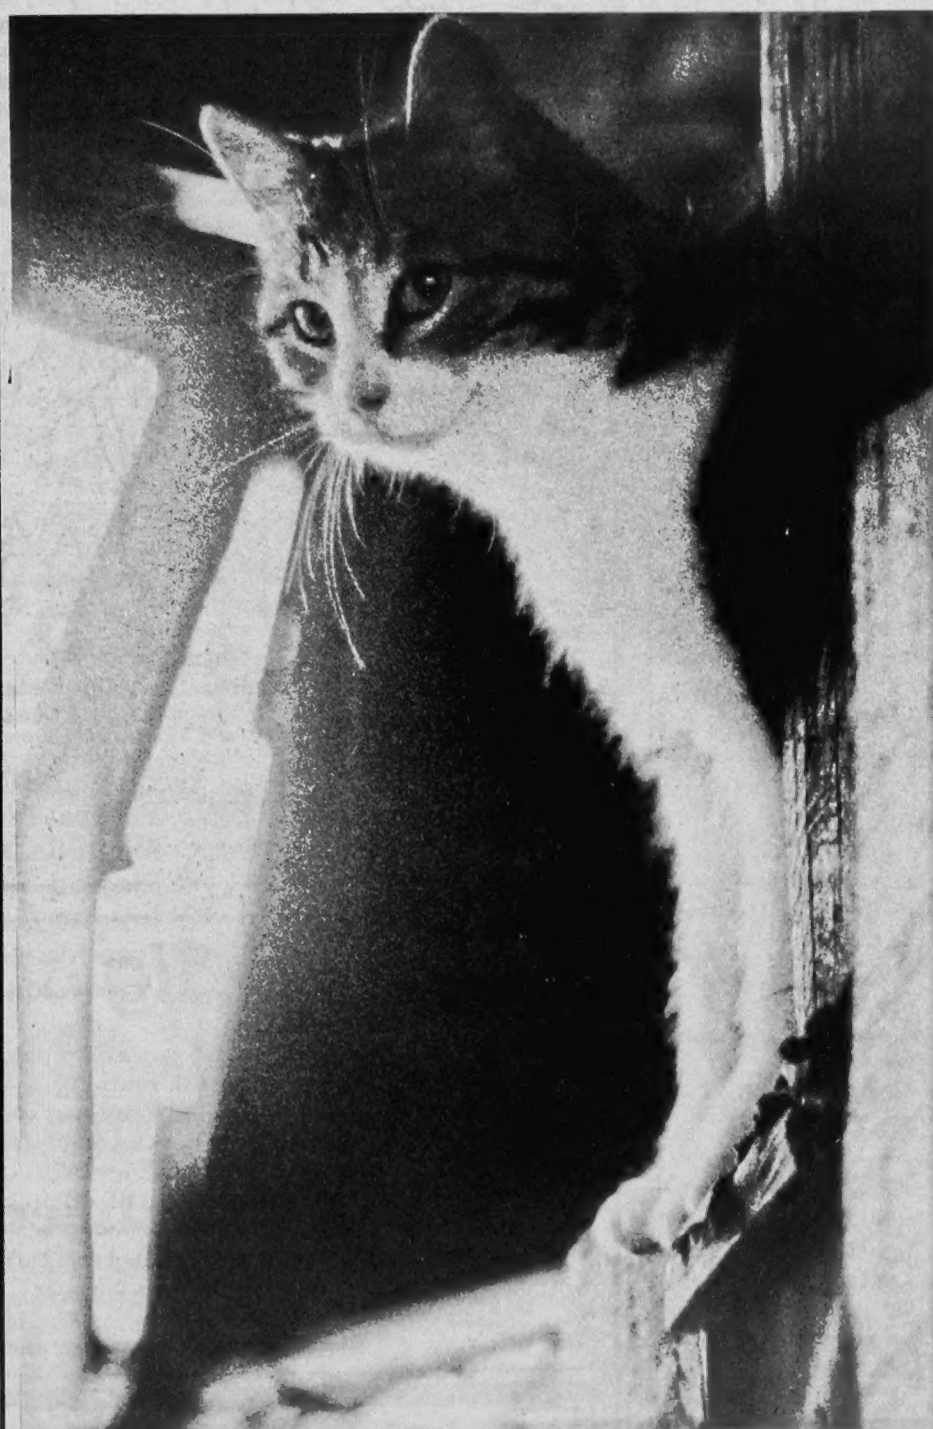

The lack of washrooms, now that's a good one. I can stand with a handful of purchases, my kid will have to go and 95 per cent of the stores in Minden will say, not open to the public, then direct you two blocks away.

Parking: I don't think you can ever park in front of any of the stores you're wishing to shop in, so that would force Mr. Chips customers to walk the Main St. and see what else Minden has to offer.

As for "not looking as good as the surrounding buildings", come on. The buildings are either half vacant, boarded up or have paper bags in the windows.

Where we grew up, every little town had its own chip truck and people were not ashamed. Some are permanent and painted up to look nice (Kinmount has one for instance). If anything, had he not brought in fill it still would be nothing but an overgrown ditch.

Caroline LeFebvre,
Kinmount.

Third and ten for the CFL

On a recent trip to Ottawa I heard a radio commercial announcing that Jay Leno, one of America's top young comedians, would be holding a benefit concert in the nation's capital.

What organization do you think was the beneficiary of the evening?

Perhaps the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario? No.

Maybe the Canadian Cancer Society or the Red Cross Society? No.

Perhaps the evening was organized by Finance Minister Michael Wilson in an effort to buy back Canadian's trust after allegations of further budget leaks? A worthy cause, but no.

The organization that benefited from Jay Leno's performance is in such dire need of money that it is in danger of folding. It has a hard time meeting its payroll, suffers from a high rate of staff turn-over and has a real problem attracting people to take advantage of its services.

The 'charity' which sponsored the benefit concert to raise money is none other than the Ottawa Rough Riders.

That's right, those same hapless gridiron ne're-dowells who seem to have taken out a long-term lease on the basement of the Canadian Football League's standings are now holding benefit concerts to try and sustain their existence.

What's next? Linebackers selling carnations at the airport? Children collecting pennies on Halloween in little cardboard boxes shaped like football helmets? Ottawa mayor Jim Durell singing 'Amazing Grace' and urging people to pledge money to the Riders during long weekend telethons?

How long will it take for the city to realize that it doesn't make sense to support a football team by

Investors have big plans for 'Mount Minden'

An ambitious plan by several local investors could see the development of commercial and residential properties on 'Mount Minden'.

The proposal for a three-tier development of the property behind and beside the new Home Hardware store calls for eight Highway Commercial lots to accommodate businesses like "McDonalds, Pizza Delight, Red Lobster, Swiss Chalet, etc." Brad Bradamore said in a letter to the Ministry of Transportation.

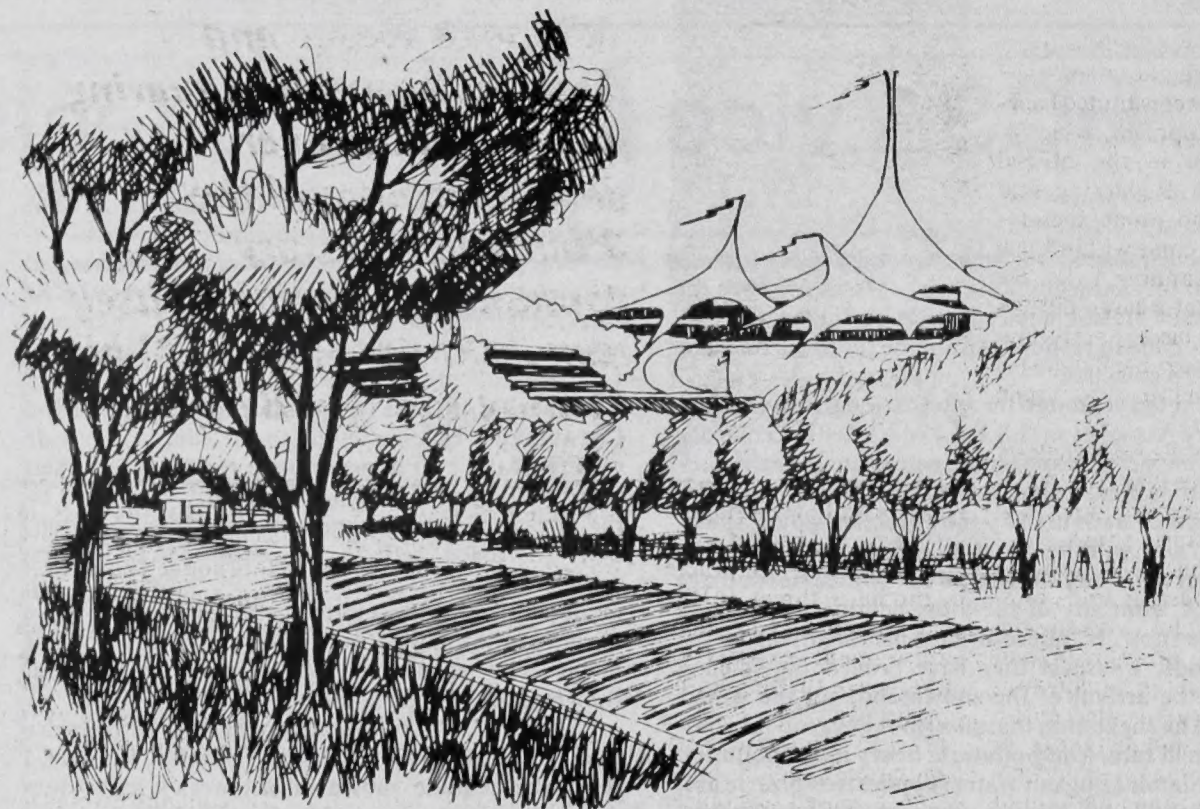

Bradamore's wife, Erika, is one of the property owners involved in this proposal. Others include Don and Opal Crowe, Bruce and Marian Harris, Irma Armstrong, Debra and Ken Fountain and Torybrook Investments.

Bradamore, who is also the township's Chief Building Official, believes the potential for good for large franchise restaurants to locate the proposed Highway 35 lots. He has seen the traffic counts taken by the ministry and is optimistic that restaurants, service centres and motels could thrive in that area. Bradamore says his involvement in this project is not as the township's building official, since his wife owns part of the property.

The second tier of the proposal calls for the creation of commercial lots. "We would like to have uses such as Municipa Trust Company, doctors' offices lawyers' offices, insurance agents, dentist's offices, optometrists, chiropractors, etc."

Behind the commercial zone is a proposed subdivision called 'Mount Minden Heights.' This includes about 65 single-family residential homes with three cul-de-sacs. The access to this area would be off St. Germain Street, Chandos and Newcastle Streets.

Another area of the subdivision would be zoned for multiple residential use. "In this area we propose to put eight 12-unit apartment buildings or two 40-unit apartment buildings or 80 freehold townhouses," says Bradamore.

There is also a second residential subdivision in the plans to be called 'Mount Minden Valley View, and below this is another five or six commercial units.

The name 'Mount Minden' was coined in 1982 when the Minden Cause Study was done. The architects of that document suggested that the "large and beautiful hill located between Highway 35, Main Street and Minden Street (Newcastle Street) be officially named as a point of community orientation.

The study also recommended that, because of the hill's high visibility, tourist attractions such as a hotel or a commercial museum should be located there and the zoning be changed to promote these uses.

Back-lot policy sparks a heated debate

There was also the question of whether or not the properties constituted back-lot development, which is forbidden in the official plan, but Reddering said that at no point does his property come within 1,000 feet of Canning Lake. He added that a large hill lies between his property and the lake so run-off from his land would flow away from the water.

Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry sits on the Planning Advisory Committee and said the decision to turn down Reddering's severance was unanimous. He told council that he walked the property on May 4 and found a large stream running through the entire property, not just the front as Reddering has said. Berry said that in the opinion of the committee the severance posed a threat to the environment and was considered to be back-lot development.

Chris Cadwell, the inspector from the Health Unit who approved Reddering's severance, attended Thursday's meeting to explain why, in his opinion, the severance poses no risk to the environment. He said there was more than enough room on the property to install a septic system away from any natural water course. He said he had made an on-site inspection of the property and found quite a bit of high, level, dry land suitable for building.

Reeve Ray Moore said some people on the Planning Advisory Committee "feel they have more knowledge of what goes on in the environment" than the

The lines have been drawn. Minden's Reeve and Deputy Reeve are squaring off in a battle over development and the Planning Advisory Committee has found itself caught in the middle. While Moore says go, Berry says whoa.

Health Unit. He said the designation of hazard lands "puts up a flag" that there might be a threat to the environment and it is up to environment experts to either leave the flag up or put it down.

The Planning Advisory Committee should look to see if proposed severances meet the township's requirement and not try and be experts on the environment, said Moore.

Moore also said that the definition of what constitutes a back-lot is ambiguous. Although the Official Plan forbids back-lot development, it does not specify a minimum set back from the water, and according to Moore, the 1,000-foot distance is arbitrary and discretionary.

"If people are challenging the recommendations made by the committee there must be something wrong," said Moore. He said the committee, which is comprised of six members and a chairman, experiences a lot of split votes "because two people wish to stop all development in Haliburton County." He later said the two committee members he was referring to are Berry and Verne Graham.

"You're turning everything down because you want it turned down," Moore told Berry.

"If it was the other way around you'd be approving everything because you want it approved," retorted the Deputy-Reeve.

"You'd better believe it, if it's good for the community," Moore said.

Councillor Bob Sisson said that if council wasn't going to listen to the recommendations made by the planning committee then there is little point in having the committee at all.

Instead of voting on the severance, council decided to send it back to Wednesday's meeting of the Planning Advisory Committee for reconsideration and to hear submissions from a representative from the Health Unit in reference to the environmental impact of the site.

But the debate about decisions by the Planning Advisory Committee and the definition of back-lot development was far from over.

Later in the meeting lawyer Don Finn appeared before council on behalf of Edward and Marlene Pilcher, whose proposed severances to a property on Horseshoe Lake Road One where turned down by the Planning Advisory Committee.

The committee would not permit the severances because the land is within 1,000 feet of Horseshoe Lake and was considered to be back-lot development.

Finn explained that the Pilchers wanted to create the two lots to give to their son and daughter but the plan was stalled at the "advisory committee, for the want of a better word."

It was a close vote to turn the property down, said Finn, and because the 1,000-foot set back is just a guideline, he said he felt that each property should be judged on its merits. As in the case of Reddering's property, the severance met with Health Unit approval. Finn said it was wrong to turn it down.

Finn told council that, according to Chamber of Commerce estimates, every new person who comes into the county brings with him just over $4,000 and the township should not send him away. He added that if the severance was going to cause the lake to be polluted he "would be the first to say forget it." He said it was unfair of the committee to "take a shot at this family."

Berry agreed that the vote at the planning committee was split and admitted he was "one of the nayes."

"The feeling was that this would cause further pollution to a lake that's already in trouble," he said. The committee's decision was based on the fact that the property sloped towards the lake and the soil is thin.

Berry also told Finn that the Official Plan is more than just a policy. He said it had been approved by various provincial ministries and one of the Plan's objectives is to preserve the quality of lake environments.

Minden's building official Brad Bradamore told council that the 1,000-foot set back for back-lot development was causing problems. "I don't know what to tell people," he said. He pointed out that if the 1,000-foot restriction is enforced there will be no more development in Ingoldsby, because of the settlement's proximity to Canning and Kasha-gawigamog Lakes, there will be no more development in Canarvon, because it lies between Twelve Mile and Mirror Lakes and no further development on either Horseshoe Lake Road One or Two because they run close to the water.

Berry said the policy was developed on the recommendation of the planner but Bradamore answered that it might be time to get another planner because the policy has stopped development. "Everything's dead."

Moore then said Minden's previous Reeve, Sinc Nesbitt, had fought with the Planning Advisory Committee and that Graham and Berry, "won't pass anything."

Berry said that the committee has to make tough decisions and that when it comes to back-lot development "there is no black and white."

Finn said because the committee vote was close it was time to go to the "people who are elected."

Council would have to make a decision on the Pilcher property, said Moore, and either override the planning committee or support it. "We're setting a precedent tonight," he said.

The resolution to override the committee's recommendation and allow the Pilchers' severances was passed with affirmative votes by Mike Maher, Lewis Stevens and Moore.

Grand opening marks growth

The grand opening of the Minden Color Your World outlet and refurbished Riverview Furniture/Minden Custom Upholstery makes another step in the growth of a business which has made Minden its home for the past ten years. While the businesses have been operating for some time now at their present location the festivities surrounding the "official opening" took place just last Wednesday.

It was ten years ago that brothers Derreck and Craig Box brought their upholstery skills north out of the city to Minden. They opened Minden Custom Upholstery on St. Germaine Street. Responding to clients' requests, they quickly realized there was a need for a furniture outlet to serve the area. The two facets of home decorating were natural partners, and business grew rapidly.

The growth in fact quickly outstripped the space available at the first location. The opportunity arose to move to Main Street and in 1981 they moved into the former drug store premises at the corner of Main Street and South Water Street.

Once again, expanding demand sent Craig and Derreck looking for larger premises. The former Pro Hardware building on Main Street was available and in 1983 they quickly filled this larger outlet. Here they added carpet and floor coverings.

Yet again, business growth put space at a premium. The brothers decided to build an addition to the structure, adding a second floor and an extension on the south side of the building. The upper level provides a bright, spacious furniture show-

The Haliburton Highlands could see many tour buses travelling the scenic roadways in the future as a result of last week's FAM tours, arranged for by the Chamber of Commerce. More than 100 people from various parts of southern Ontario toured the area for three days last week, and they are now back home trying to convince the organizations with which they are involved to participate in bus tours of the Highlands. This group from Oakville toured the Scenic Highway 35 on Thursday, including a stop at Minden's lookout hill. They also visited the Wild Water Preserve and enjoyed some shopping in downtown Minden.

Everyone on this bus was enthusiastic about future bus trips to this area. They were impressed with the natural beauty and with the outstanding accommodation available.

Hardware Store is now open

The doors to the new Home Hardware store in Minden swung open to the public for the first time last Thursday as the owners completed their move into the new spacious building at the corner of Highway 35 and Main Street.

Home Hardware and the Home/All Building Centre outgrew their former quarters, making the construction of a large new building necessary. In all, the new facility has 27,000 square feet of floor space. They are using 20,000 square feet of that as retail space.

From the outside, the new store appears to be large, but from the inside, it's enormous.

The high ceiling in the retail area makes the store feel very roomy. And although there were dozens of people in the store at any time during the day Thursday, it never came close to feeling crowded. The shelves are all less than five feet high so you can see from one end of the store to the other making it easy to find what you're looking for. Banners will be hung from the ceiling identifying the various departments.

The old store at the corner of Main Street and Peck Street is now closed and all the stock is being moved to the new location.

The expansive floor space in Minden's new Home Hardware store at the corner of Highway 35 and Main Street is overwhelming. The long-awaited opening was last Thursday. A grand opening is slated for some time in August.

Everyone's help needed to stop Moth spread

by Doreen Hawman

The Ministry of Agriculture asks that we take precautions against inadvertently helping the spread of the Gypsy Moth when moving from one region to another.

Anyone living in a gypsy moth infested area knows the damage this insect can cause. During heavy infestations, trees and shrubs can be stripped bare overnight. The female moth often stows its eggs in hidden places on articles left outdoors. Favourite spots include lawn furniture, ladders, swing sets, garbage cans, sheds, firewood, lumber and garden equipment. Sheltered areas under cars and trailers as well as camping equipment may also harbor the pest.

The Ministry has provided a booklet called "On the Move, the Gypsy Moth and You", details how to recognize the eggs and what to use to destroy the masses.

For a copy of the booklet contact Agriculture Canada or your nearest Haliburton County Information Centre. (Intended for last week)

The Ministry of Transportation reminds motorists, that as of April 1, an agreement between Ontario and Quebec to exchange information on Highway Traffic violations went into effect. Before April 1, only Criminal Code offences such as impaired driving, were exchanged between Canadian provinces.

Drivers from the neighbouring provinces, who are convicted of traffic offences in either Ontario or Quebec, will have the conviction and demerit

Anyone owning property in the County of Haliburton, where a Hydro right-of-way crosses or borders on such property, has the legal right to request that the local Hydro manager desist from spraying any organic herbicide on or near their property.

Previously, Ontario Hydro has insisted that the property owner be responsible for clearing the line. You can now refuse to do the cutting and insist that Hydro do the clearing by hand without the use of herbicides. Hydro's own guidelines state that they intend to reduce and finally end all spraying within three years.

Also, any property owner(s) can request that The Ministry of Transportation not spray the road easement that the ministry takes as its right-of-way.

'Kind Lady' new ground for theatre

Last week's performance of Edward Chodorov's

'Kind Lady' broke new ground for the Highlands Little Theatre as, for the first time, they strayed from their traditional light-hearted productions.

If area theatre-goers are lucky, they'll see more of this in the future.

Brenda Ellis and Anne Creelman played the leading roles to perfection in this tension-filled drama. Ellis was the wealthy Mary Herries, who was pillaged by Celeste Abbott (Creelman) and her untrustworthy friends.

Other on-stage talent included Doug Brohm, Betty Mark, Carol Thompson, Deborah Neve, Ross Mark, Leona Carter, Ian Johnson, Jim Andrews, Deborah Dart and Eliza O'Neil.

The play ran for three nights, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School auditorium.

'Sign here,' the cunning Mrs. Edwards (Deborah Dart) instructs a hagar Mary Herries (Brenda Ellis) during last week's performance of 'Kind Lady'. Edwards and Celeste Abbott (Ann Creelman) tried to convince their unwilling host to give them all her belongings.

Haliburton County Senior Games underway

by Norma Hodgson

The first event of the Haliburton District Senior Games was held on Tuesday, May 23 at the Royal Canadian Legion in Haliburton. Euchre drew 140 participants from all areas of the county, and although after the game many were heard to say "I just didn't get the cards", everyone had fun. The games were ably convened by Joyce and Jack Hills, both wearing the distinctive Highland Tartan vests. They were assisted by Lenore and Hadden Gillespie. Euchre playoffs will be held on May 30 at the Drop-In Centre, and the winners of that day will be competing with Muskoka in September.

On Wednesday, May 24, Marion and Stuart Ried donned the tartan vests to convene the bowling competition at Carnarvon Lanes. One bowler said she hadn't bowled in 15 years, but still came up with an enviable score. Of the 65 bowlers competing on Tuesday, 36 will return to the alleys a week later for (more on page 17)

County bylaw worries Minden

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

The County's new parking by-law is causing some concern among Minden's councillors.

County Council passed the by-law to regulate parking along Deep Bay Road and Horseshoe Lake Roads One and Two. Under its terms, parking will be prohibited along a section of Horseshoe Lake Road One from Mitchell's Bridge to 600 metres west.

County Engineer Bill Obee told county council at the time the by-law was passed that municipal by-law officers will be responsible for enforcing the new regulations.

But Minden's by-law officer Brad Bradamore says he has no authority to enforce the county's by-law unless he is appointed as a county official.

The new by-law will be sorely tested in July when the World Cup kayak races are held at the White Water Preserve along Horseshoe Lake Road. Parking during the event has always brought complaints from residents living along the road.

Last year the road was a township road and Bradamore acted as a traffic control officer during the event; but now that the county has assumed the Horseshoe Lake Roads, Minden council feels parking should be a county concern.

"When it was our road, it was our problem but it's not our road now," said Councillor Bob Sisson.

The question also arose regarding who would be responsible for bearing the cost of policing the stretch of road during the World Cup event.

Minden council has budgeted $500 towards the weekend to be used to rent portable toilets, place garbage cans at the site and hire personnel. Bradamore said hiring the necessary people to control traffic alone will cost $500.

Last year the township hired two individuals to assist Bradamore. The assistants were paid cash and Bradamore was given time off to compensate for the two days' work.

Bradamore also questioned the legality of trying to enforce the county's regulation. "If you don't have the proper by-law and fee schedule, there's nothing you can do about it. We don't have jurisdiction out there; our by-law is null and void."

"Why hire two people if we don't have any authority?" asked councillor Mike Maher. "We are going to have chaos if they don't realize whose problem it is."

Chip wagon relocates to highway

by Jay Kerr Wilson

Mr. Chips has finally found a home in Minden.

The owner of the chip truck, Derwin Barry, has been given permission by Minden council to operate the concession at the Esso station on Highway 35.

Barry was told by Anson, Hindon and Minden Council two weeks ago that he would no longer be allowed to operate his business in the downtown core. The council decided not to renew Barry's licence, largely because of objections to the Mr. Chips truck by the Business Improvement Area.

Council was told that the truck would meet all regulations at the new location and permission had been granted by Imperial Oil and Jim Callaghan, the operator of B&J Esso. The truck will be located in the service station's parking lot between the phone booth and the building.

By-law officer Brad Bradamore suggested that council issue Barry a six-month trial licence and at the end of that time the operation be reviewed.

Barry also asked for permission to operate at any community event held at the Minden Fair Grounds, such as the Ride for Sight and the County Fair, but council said permission would have to come from the organizing committees of each particular event.

buying tickets to see anything but football? With their present philosophy they might as well trade all the players, fire the coaches, take the team out of the schedule and hire Leno to dress in a Riders' uniform and give 13 performances during the summer and fall. It still wouldn't be football but it would probably make money.

The Rough Riders aren't alone in having financial troubles. The entire Canadian Football League is suffering from declines in game attendance and television revenue. Rumours of the league's demise surface every year, and every year the league officials proudly announce that Canadian football is on the comeback trail and predict the best season in years.

But despite the hype and salesmanship, there has yet to be a significant improvement in the league's condition.

Low attendance figures are not the disease, they are merely one symptom. There are two main contributing factors that are keeping people away from the stadiums. The first is competition from the National Football League. More and more Canadian sports fans are converting to American football because, they will tell you, Canadian football is "boring."

Their biggest complaint with our version of the game is that it has three downs instead of four. Critics say that with only three downs Canadian football becomes a repetitive pattern of throw, run, kick, throw, run, kick, throw, run kick...etc. If fans are expected to sit for three hours in sub-arctic temperatures they want to see big-gain running plays and forty-yard passes. They don't want to chant "block that punt" every 45 seconds.

Another problem with the CFL is its inability to afford big-name athletes. People aren't as interested in watching teams play as they are watching stars perform. They are lured by American football personalities like Jim MacMahon, William 'The Refrigerator' Perry, and John Elway. Not only are Canadian teams short of such personalities but in cases like Terry Greer, Warren Moon and Dieter Brock, they have watched CFL players head south in search of larger paycheques.

The rising cost of ticket prices is another factor keeping potential Canadian fans away from stadiums. When you consider that taking a family of four to a game can easily cost over a hundred dollars, it's not surprising people are choosing to spend their money on other activities.

Solving the CFL's dilemma will involve some difficult choices, if the league is to be revived at all. One option is to quit trying to compete with the NFL. When you're dealing with only eight teams located in population centers much smaller than most American cities, you just don't have the resources necessary to provide a comparable product.

What the Canadian league should do is make the game a purely national sport. By recruiting only Canadian players, the league would be opening the doors to thousands of young football players who could never hope to compete for a spot on a team against the seemingly endless supply of talent coming from the American colleges.

Yes, the calibre of play might be diminished but as long as the teams are fairly well matched, the games shouldn't be any less exciting or any less competitive.

Another advantage is that the league could then afford to lower its salaries, hopefully resulting in a decline in ticket prices and an increase in attendance.

But most important, an all-Canadian football league would probably spark increased interest in the game. Fans would be able to identify with players who had played for various Canadian universities, and there would be a sense of going to watch "the home-town boys" play football.

What keeps the league alive is the feeling, among CFL believers, that our version of the game is different than the American version. It's just one more thing that sets us apart and gives us a sense of national identity.

We only have to look at Haliburton's high school team to see that, even at that level, Canadian football can be played with enthusiasm and talent and can provide excitement and real entertainment. The same holds true for Canadian university and junior teams. The talent is there if we are ready to develop and take advantage of it.

It has become evident that the solution does not lie in importing American players and trying to adopt the posture of being little brothers to the American league.

And the solution certainly doesn't lie in turning the CFL into a charitable organization to raise money in order to provide a product for which there is inadequate demand.

One last question. Will the Rough Riders be handing out receipts to season ticket buyers so the cost can be deducted from income tax as a charitable donation to a non-profit organization?

Ontario cattle producers turn thumbs down

In a province-wide beef vote, cattlemen have rejected both the idea of a beef marketing agency and supply management.

"But the results of the beef vote don't mean that cattlemen want the status quo", says OCA President Jim Magee. "Quite the contrary: in meeting after meeting across the province, cattlemen were quite positive in their desire to build a better future. It's just that they didn't see a future involving a marketing board. They want something more dynamic than that - and our Association is going to continue to make sure it happens."

OCA has already developed a course of action that outlines precisely how it will address the future within the market-driven context producers voted for. Entitled "Blueprint For The Future - A Renewed Mandate", the document addresses cattlemen's needs to be more profitable, innovative and competitive in tomorrow's marketplace.

The action plan calls for three major thrusts: establishment of a group to design the Blueprint; improved communications with members in county/district associations to increase member participation; and, assigning projects to OCA Committees so that groups function on what OCA executives are calling "a lean and mean" project basis. Says Magee: "We want to capture all the positive energy and creativity that went into the beef vote process - and use it to accelerate progress in our industry."

The action plan proposes that the Blueprint for the Future be completed in two stages. In phase one, a discussion paper will be taken to cattlemen at regional meetings this fall and Annual Meetings next winter. "We want the discussion paper to stir up new ideas, and better ways of doing things", said

Magee. The second phase will build on the first by undertaking a long term study of the Ontario beef industry. It's proposed that this be undertaken by the new George Morris Centre at the University of Guelph.

"Liaison with government will continue to be a priority so that elected representatives and program administrators fully understand the Association's goals", said Jim Magee.

Museum Committee hires summer student

The museum committee held its regular meeting on May 24, missing their chairperson, Jean Lacey, who is confined to hospital. The minutes were ably organized by Jeanne Sears and noted that thank you notes were sent to the Lioness Club and Sylvia Howard for donations, our S.E.E. D. grant was successful for hiring a student, the museum is open Saturdays until the end of June after which it will be open six days per week (closed Sundays except for special occasions), and Bob Harrington and Dick Kirkwood have completed the mounting cases for our precious arrowhead exhibit.

Acting chairman, Stan Hill, thanked the display committee, chaired by Nancy Garbutt for their excellent efforts in rearranging the museum and providing a fine display of the various aspects of early life in Haliburton County. Nancy noted that she is planning a country Christmas display for July and has some original ideas that will make it appealing for children as well as adults. If local residents have items to lend the museum for displays please contact Nancy.

The building committee under the direction of George Hewitt has commenced exterior work on the Bowron Homestead. Volunteers Bill Milford and Ross Codlin assisted with staining, chinking and flooring. Assistants are needed to work with George to mix mortar and rebuild the lower floor. Please phone Stan Hill to volunteer some time.

Membership chairman Nancy Garbutt distributed cards to committee members. If you haven't obtained your $2.00 membership contact a committee member or drop your request to the museum, P.O. Box 69, best bargain in town.

Frieda Hulbig and Henry Webert would appreciate donations of items of baking for the Museum Attic Treasures Sale on July 8.

Ted Carson has indicated that the Haliburton Weavers have agreed to participate in the Sheep to Shawl contest at the August County Fair and plans to invite two outside teams to compete with them. Stan Hill is looking for country crafts people to participate in this exhibit for the current year. Please phone him at 286-3969 if you will participate.

Jean - hope you're better soon.

Residents fight rezoning bid

A group of Blairhampton area residents plan to attend tomorrow's special meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council to voice their opposition to a proposal for rezoning.

Bob Cairns, who owns Heather Lodge, says he and others will be strongly objecting to the bid to rezone a part of Gerry Vanderbrink's property temporarily to Industrial. Vanderbrink owns Applied Stress Inc. which manufactures components for weigh scales.

Cairns has no argument with the sort of clean, quiet industry being done by Applied Stress Inc. However, he doesn't like the idea of having nearby property zoned Industrial because of the wide variety of uses this zoning permits.

Cairns is also afraid the municipality will be starting a dangerous trend if it allows this rezoning to go through. "We're in danger of pockets of industry shooting up all over the place," he said. Cairns said he would rather have the township allow the company to continue to operate under the present zoning than to extend a three-year rezoning.

Minden Council has been striving to establish an industrial park to accommodate such companies as Applied Stress Inc. For a while it looked as though the efforts had paid off when council agreed to buy a 97-acre parcel of land on Highway 121. However, that deal has now run into a snag that puts the future of this development into question.

Boats now ply the Trent Severn Waterway system

The 1989 navigation season has opened on the Trent-Severn Waterway, the historic waterway operated by the Canadian Parks Service.

The system allows boaters to travel from Trenton to Port Severn on the shores of Georgian Bay. The lakes and rivers in between offer some of the best vacation havens in central and eastern Ontario.

Construction of the Trent-Severn Waterway began in 1833 although the system was not open to through navigation until 1920. It boasts several engineering marvels including a marine railway at Big Chute and the historic Peterborough Lift Lock, the world's highest hydraulic lift lock, now operating for its 84th navigation season. The waterway connects the Severn River, Lake Simcoe, the Kawartha Lakes and the Trent River. A through trip covering the 386-km length of the waterway takes about a week. In 1988, more than 255,914 boats passed through the Trent-Severn Waterway locks.

Cones to go

Lee-Anne Kruusi is serving up ice cream, hamburgers, fries and a variety of other tasty items for the newly-opened snack bar at the Ingoldsby General Store.

Lee-Anne and Bruce Metherall bought the old general store two years ago and are hoping to better serve customers in the area with this new service. They had it open in time for the holiday weekend and Lee-Anne says business was brisk in spite of the fact they didn't have a chance to advertise beforehand.

The store is located on the shore of Lake Kashagawigamog on Ingoldsby Road.

Our Residents' Club had their May meeting in the Lounge with all members present. Holly, our president was taken back to the hospitals at Peterborough and Ajax; to Holly C. who awaits her call to hospital; to Eleanor Pye who spent a few days in Minden hospital; to Doris F. and Melissa H., both under Drs. care in their Apts., as is Art M.

Val and Duke Rescola from Bellingham, Wa.,

U.S.A. were recent visitors of her father, Henry Howe. Family and friends surprised Val and Duke with an evening of buffet lunch and music in the Minden Arena before they departed for home. This was also their Silver Anniversary. Music was provided by Val's brother, Joe, and boys, and sister Shirley and husband. A highlight of the evening was a 'mock wedding' in which the men involved dressed as women and the ladies as men. The bride, (Joe Howe) carried a 'fresh' bouquet of a sprig of broccoli and rhubarb leaves. As Henry said, "We had a really good time". Henry accompanied Val and Duke as far as Peterborough to visit his daughter Mary Baldwin and family.

Vivien Anderson was recently honoured by fellow members of Kinmount Legion with a lovely 25 year membership pin. Congratulations Vivien. Much can be said to honour the work done by the Canadian Legion. Many a soldier has

A potluck dinner was held at St. Paul's Church to conclude the euchre games for the summer. We thank the ladies of the church for an enjoyable season with them and look forward to next fall. We also thank very sincerely Jack Chilton for coming to pick us up for the games. By we, I mean Eleanor Pye, Melissa Hampson, Margaret Horsley, and Mabel Trodd. We thank you.

Doris and Mel Foster returned recently from a very enjoyable and interesting trip to Pennsylvania. In conversation with them I became interested in their description of the beautiful Milton Hershey School in Hershey, U.S. for underprivileged children. Mr. Hershey, the Chocolate millionaire, spent many of his millions in constructing a school accommodating 1100 boys and girls from far and wide in U.S., and who are educated from beginners to Grade XII. All are entitled to free board and clothing, and try for scholarships. The walls of this huge beautiful building are constructed from local limestone, and the interior of the Rotunda is of marble from Vermont. All children are encouraged to persevere in life. In the outlying districts are farms owned by the Amish people who live a very simple life from the land. They grow their own produce, make their equipment (where possible), have their own windmill to draw up water, their own tobacco sheds, a quarry, a horse and buggy specially for courting, etc. (One such farm has been in use since 1715. Much credit goes to the simple life, and to the millionaire who saw fit to share his wealth with the young and neglected. (Thanks to Mel and Doris for sharing their trip with me and you.)

Many thanks go out to Harry Pye and the Rockcliffe restaurant for sponsoring our Taxi service and to Ann and Ralph, of the taxi service for their thoughtfulness. You are all very kind, and we thank you.

Women's Institute plans for their Fair exhibit

by Jeanne Sears

The latest meeting of the Minden Women's Institute was held May 17 in the Common Room at the Cultural Centre. Jeanne Sears was in charge.

After the usual opening, the roll call was answered by 16 members and one guest; Mrs. Carrell was made welcome. Plans were made for bake sales at the parkette July 19 and August 9. Mrs. W. Moore reported sending 20 cards since the last meeting and collections for the card fund and Pennies for Friendship were taken. Some paid the remainder of their bus fares to Mrs. Kernohan.

We arranged for the exhibit at the Haliburton County Fair with articles to be made by members and Mrs. Lacey in charge. Mrs. Lyman Cox read the list of special days for the W.I. in June.

We are to set up programs for the coming year for all executive members at the home of Mrs. D. Cox, May 25 at 10 a.m.

The curator, Mrs. Sears, mentioned some details of the Tweedsmuir Books and these were on display. She noted that she is now curator for the district and Mrs. Lacey is second vice president of Victoria East District.

Mrs. Lacey then introduced our guest, Mrs. Carrell and she showed us how to make an attractive flower arrangement and then received a gift for her work.

Next meeting is at the United Church Hall on Wednesday June 21 (program date was wrong) at noon for pot luck lunch and Mrs. Thrasher, district President and some ladies from Hyland Crest are to be invited to this.

After the adjournment, Mrs. Carrell acted capably as auctioneer of the plants turned in on the roll call and a social half hour followed with tea and snacks served by the committee.

PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRE FOR THE VICTORIA COUNTY AGREEMENT FOREST MANAGEMENT PLAN

The Minden District of the Ministry of Natural Resources is currently in the process of preparing a twenty year Resource Management Plan for the Victoria County Agreement Forest, which is comprised of tracts in Somerville, Laxton, Emily and Manvers Townships (see map below).

The Ministry of Natural Resources, with the assistance and co-operation of the County of Victoria, has scheduled a Public Information Centre in Lindsay on June 20, 1989, to present information on progress made to date on the Resource Management Plan. The Information Centre will be held in the Victoria Room of The County of Victoria Building, 26 Francis Street, Lindsay, between the hours of 6:30 p.m. and 9:00 p.m.

All interested parties are cordially invited to attend and review preliminary proposals and potential alternatives currently being considered for the planning area. Members of the planning team will be in attendance to respond to inquiries and to discuss any new proposals which might be offered regarding the plan or planning process.

The Public Information Centre will include display material and information relating to:

- Agreement Forests and The Forestry Act
- proposed areas of forestry operations during the 5 year operating plan period 1990 to 1995, and the 20 year management plan period 1990 to 2010
- identified areas of concern (e.g. potentially conflicting land uses, deer yards and wintering areas, fisheries habitat, etc.) and
- alternate ways in which operations might be conducted in these areas to achieve the preferred or most acceptable management options.

Following the Public Information Centre, a thirty day period will be provided for public response to the plan proposals. During this period, the information material will be made available to the public by contacting the Minden District Office (705-286-1521) or the Lindsay District Office (705-324-6121).

Any groups or individuals with concerns regarding the Resource Management Plan proposals are requested to submit written comments by July 24, 1989 to:

Association being formed

Editor:

I would like firstly to congratulate The Times for picking up on an issue that is of great concern to all permanent and seasonal residents of Kashagawigamog Lake area. Had it not been for your paper, I would not have been alerted to the situation surrounding the proposed extension of the Allsaw Bridge Marine.

As seasonal, and soon to be permanent, residents of the area, we have been very concerned over the past years about the pollution of our lakes. After reading the horror stories about other lakes that have become polluted and having the opportunity to speak with one of the Ministry of Natural Resources staff who was collecting water samples in front of our cottage, we were very concerned to learn that Mr. Lytle was planning such an expansion.

Anyone who travels the waterways of the Kashagawigamog chain are familiar with the many narrow channels and shallow areas of the lakes, that is what the meaning of the lake's name is: Long Narrow Waters... We believe more concern for the effects such developments will have on the environment should be considered before approval is given, setting a precedent for more and more "docking" facilities on the lakes.

Has anyone considered the timing of Mr. Lytle's request? I am sure when the ministry and the Canadian Coast Guard visited the facilities, the water levels were at their highest. May I suggest they visit in August when the water levels are dramatically lowered as our water is taken to feed the Trent Canal system? All the cottagers and permanent residents in the area will attest to the problems this brings. For people familiar with the area, precautionary measures are taken when boating to avoid the dangerously low areas. Perhaps the ministry should travel in front of Edgewater Beach in the channel and see the problems that could occur with even more boaters racing up and down, pulling water-skiers. What about the concern the ministry expresses about power boats avoiding spawning areas and disturbing the lake bottom causing eggs to be covered with sediments that prevent fish from hatching? How many gas tanks will this new development ultimately require? Will they have to ask for approval to add more? Also, as the water level recedes swimmers are forced to venture into the areas used by boaters ... who will take responsibility for accidents?

We believe all the permanent residents as well as seasonal have a great concern about the future of the lake. In just the past few years with the advent of pontoon boats, we have seen what can happen when weekend visitors renting these "floating party-decks" do their thing till all hours of the morning. Voices travel on the water and it is very obvious both from the comments and the refuse that washes ashore in the morning that a lot of liquor is being consumed and as there are no lavatories on board, we don't have to say where the people relieve themselves.

Ontario lakes are for everyone's use and it would seem now that as the Muskokas and Lake Simcoe areas fill up, the Minden/Haliburton areas have been discovered. Let's just make sure before approving plans for convention centres, this docking facility, which as stated previously will set a precedent, that we have given due consideration to the effects such developments will have on the quality of our lake. The Lake Kashagawigamog Residents Association is now being formed, let's hope their voice will be heard loud and clear in the deliberations that are no doubt going to take place as more and more commercial ventures are proposed. Is the almighty buck worth risking the public safety and future health of our lakes. How much more can the lakes absorb?

We were pleased to read that both Haliburton and Minden councils are concerned about these issues. Your attention as the local media can play a major role in the future of the lake chain. Keep up the good work.

Mary and Roy Blackwell,
R.R. 2, Haliburton.

Blaming teachers is unfair

Editor:

After Mrs. Poirier's letter in last week's paper, I felt a need to respond.

As a mother I understand Mrs. Poirier's anxiety when her child is harassed by bullies in the classroom, the schoolyard and the bus but as a mother I also realize it is hard to be objective about your own child.

As a strong believer in discipline, I believe Mrs. Poirier has some valid points, but I also think she is missing the point. As she says in her letter we have our children for five years before they go to school but the bullies and tyrants she talks about have also been with their parents for five years. To blame the teachers for lack of discipline is very unfair.

Any parent who has spent any time in the Kindergarten and Grade One class can tell you the teachers and aides have their hands more than full with the "tyrants".

As a parent of four children, all of them in the school system at Archie Stouffer, Kindergarten is just the beginning of that great big frightening world out there and there are many problems and experiences that are going to have to be faced by child and parent. The first place to go when there is a problem with your child at school is to the teacher of the child, next to the principal, and not a public forum like the newspaper. Trust me, the response will be far more positive.

Arts Guild is looking for several new directors

by Virginia Muenzel

To all members:
Please make a careful note on your calendar to attend the Annual General Meeting of the Guild on Wednesday, June 7, 1989 at 7:30 at the Haliburton Curling Club.

The nominating committee is having great difficulty in organizing a slate of new board members. Consequently, the membership is going to have to make some serious decisions. Many of the long time Guild members feel that they have given enough of their time. And, unfortunately, almost all new members already have very full lives. Most of the women are now employed outside the home.

If there is anyone out there who would like to become a member of the Board of Directors, please get in touch with Barb Peel, Marion Langdon, or leave a message at the Gallery. There will be nominations from the floor.

Marie Wallace informs me that several people are needed who can do hand or machine sewing, to help put together sixty blocks for a new quilt. Please call Marie at 754-2648.

The tickets are out for the Rails' End Gallery 10th Anniversary Birthday Bash, on Sunday, June 18. The membership has worked long and hard to support their Gallery. We deserve to celebrate our success. Two hundred tickets will be sold at $7.50 to cover the costs of the food.

Children under seven years of age are free. Barb Bolin has lined up some great entertainment for a very pleasant Sunday in Head Lake Park. The festivities begin at 1 p.m.

Have you seen the ad for the Winning Wednesdays Lottery? It certainly sounds like a winning proposition to me. With only 200 tickets sold at $100 each, the odds are pretty good for anyone participating to win. Not only that, but if you are lucky enough to win one week, your name is put back into the pot so that you could win again. Every week for 50 weeks, one ticket will be drawn to win $100. Then, on June 6, 1990, there will be a final draw for a lump sum of $5000. What a great way to support the HHGFA! If you wish to participate, fill out the order form in the newspaper, or call the Gallery. I get to buy the first ticket, folks.

Hope to see you at the Annual Meeting and the Birthday Bash.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally.

They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Parents' Day was a big success

Another week has started with the U.C.W. from Haliburton serving the residents with a delicious afternoon tea. We thank you and appreciate it.

Mr. Don Nye from the Kinsmen came in the evening and called Bingo for us. When someone comes it really helps and time passes very quickly. We realize these men are putting themselves out for our enjoyment.

Friday there was no Bible study as Mrs. Coleman had other duties for that day. That afternoon was our Parents Day Tea Party. Each resident could invite their sons, daughters or close friends to spend the afternoon with their parent at Hyland Crest. We celebrated both Mot-

senior league

by Winnifred Barnum

her's Day and Father's Day. It was a success as we had to put up several more tables. Each guest brought something delicious to help with the lunch. Doris read a poem about mothers, written by Jimmy Cooper. We applied it to fathers also; and Stan Griffith played old favourites on the piano. Our thanks to Linda, Doris, and some faithful volunteers for giving us such a happy time.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Larry Hartin came to Hyland Crest to photograph any of the residents who wished a photo taken. It could be of themselves only or with members of their families. Many of the residents took advantage of this special offer.

Since Sunday was Mother's Day many of the residents were out for all or part of the day.

Mrs. Mary Oliver went to Wilberforce to see May Croft who was one hundred years old Sturday. They were both world war brides. They found each other through the Haliburton Echo.

Monday afternoon Doris,

Linda and Ellen took those who were able for a bus ride. We travelled to Haliburton, Gooderham, Kinmount and home. As usual we stopped for an ice cream cone.

Sunday night Rev. J. Burgess had a Mother's Day service in the Chapel and Florence Johnson played the organ. We certainly appreciate having someone to play the organ.

Terri-Lynn came Monday night to show a film, "Yellowstone Cubs".

We had two tables of euchre and one of crokinole Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium.

Grace Colburn's daughter took her to Guelph for a few days.

New Yorker. Joe and Josephine Citizen. Every Big Apple citizen — man, woman and child — kicks in contributions to the new monument to the tune of one ton a year.

You just don't see that kind of hands-on commitment anymore.

And it's long-term commitment too. The engineers in charge of the monument predict that it won't be finished in this century. They say it will take until the year 2004 to put the finishing touches on their structure. By that time it will tower 505 feet in the air, three times taller than the Statue of Liberty, bigger even than the Great Pyramid.

They are special engineers, these ones in charge of the massive Staten Island monument. They are what is called "sanitary" engineers. That's because the Staten Island monument is made of a substance seldom used for massive man-made monuments.

Garbage.

The formation that's taking shape on Staten Island is New York's — possibly the world's — largest garbage dump. Each New Yorker generates approximately 2,000 pounds worth of refuse annually. Trucks and barges have been dumping that trash in the old quarry near Little Fresh Kills Creek since the end of World War II. Now the quarry is filled and a mountain is beginning to rise.

Name of the mountain? Well, New Yorkers who give it even a passing thought call it The Staten Island Dump, but to folks in the Sanitation Department it's known as Fresh Kills.

Gruesomely appropriate name, eh what?

And Fresh Kills is a living monument. The more than one million plastic garbage bags that get dumped on it daily eventually split open. The putrefying contents send out their siren call attracting clouds of flies and screaming gulls and crows.

Then at night of course, there are the rats.

By the time Fresh Kills reaches capacity in 2004 there will be 70 million cubic yards of decomposing Gotham garbage on the site. Which makes Fresh Kills about 15 times bigger than the Great Pyramid of Cheops.

Yessir, those Americans sure know how to do things big.

There's just one tiny, unanswered problem.

What are New Yorkers going to do with their garbage when Fresh Kills is finished?

her daughter Nila this week.

Last Thursday Mac and Roy Cameron from Peterborough took me out for lunch. They wanted to take me to Haliburton to see Wilda LaRue, our sister-in-law who is home from Apache Junction, Arizona. I could not go because we were having the Thursday Tea Party and Residents' Council that afternoon.

Monday Pearl Lyle had her two daughters Jean and Anna also her granddaughter from Sudbury to visit her.

Rev. Murray from Allsaw held a service in the main lounge Wednesday night.

(Intended for last week)

* * *

Last Wednesday Nina Prentice from Lindsay came to Hyland Crest to visit many old friends. Since she lived in Minden at one time she knew quite a few of the residents, especially Lola Prentice. They were all happy to see her.

The Residents were served a delicious tea by the Minden Horticulture Society Thursday afternoon. We enjoyed it very much.

When no-one came by seven o'clock to call bingo, we decided there would not be any, but to our surprise "Bingo right away was announced." Not many attended, but we had a good evening. Nick Fomenko called and we thank him very much.

Friday afternoon instead of Evelyn Coleman coming here for Bible Study, we were invited to Evelyn and Lloyd's beautiful home for tea. Doris and Linda took us on the bus. Two of our new volunteers, Sylvia and Dick Lloyd were there when we arrived to help with wheel chair residents and help serve tea. We cannot describe the wonderful tea (all cooked by Evelyn) the hospitality or how welcome we felt.

Their home is a log house built years ago. The inside is wonderful. The ceilings are made of varnished logs and boards, a lovely fireplace and furnished beautifully. Since it was Evelyn and Lloyd's 45th wedding anniversary, we helped them celebrate. They usually exchange gifts to each other, but this year they decided to give a donation to us for our bus fund. Thank you sincerely and we appreciate your gift very much.

Friday night we had a classical guitarist play for us in the Auditorium. He is also a writer of music. Thank you Trevor Burk for entertaining us with your delightful music.

Alice Todd attended "Night of Music" at Archie Stouffer School Thursday,

May 18, by grade 7 and 8 students. Chris was playing in Grade 8 band, and Alice enjoyed it very much.

Saturday Roy Cameron, my brother-in-law, came from Peterborough and took me to Redstone Lake to see Wilda La Rue, my sister-in-law who is home from Arizona. I hadn't seen her since she came home. My sister May went to Virginia Beach with some of her family for Diane and Claude's 20th wedding anniversary. Diane is May's granddaughter. Mrs. Grace Coburn is back after a week's holiday with her daughter Carolynn at a friend in Guelph.

Congratulations to Alice Rivers on her birthday May 21, and Jean Taylor whose birthday was May 22.

Our condolences to the family and friends of Gordon Ruttle who passed away May 19th.

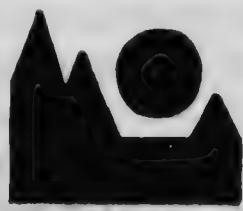

Sunday Chapel Service was conducted by Rev. J. Burgess.

Monday being a holiday, it was very quiet around here until evening when the Scottish Dancers arrived. There were sixteen dancers. It was held in the auditorium and most of the residents were in attendance. They certainly enjoyed them and it really livened up the holiday for us. Thanks for the happy evening.

Wayne Cox has chosen to try maintenance since there was an opening in that department. We will really miss him in the dining room, but wish him success in his new work.

Doris (our bus driver) and two volunteers Doris and Peggy took us for a bus ride to Carnarvon and around Big and Little Boshkung Lakes. Those who went enjoyed the outing and change.

May Horsley was away a few days visiting one of her daughters. Bob Mitchell is away also. I went with Terry to Peterborough Wednesday while he attended to some business. I did a little shopping and we brought Norma's mother back to Terry's with us.

CARD OF THANKS

A thousand thanks to Jane, Bill, (Andrew and Bradley) also to Levina and Peter. Without your help and support we couldn't have managed.

Annie & Roy

We wish at this time to express our sincere appreciation to the many good friends, neighbours and relatives who supported us during the recent loss of our husband, father and grandfather, Harold Harding. Special thanks to Dr. C.J. Abrahamse and staff, for their continuing care and support during his long illness, nursing staff at Haliburton Hospital, the V.O.N. and Red Cross Homemakers, Ambulance Drivers, Rev. Ed Moll and Kirsten of the Gordon A. Monk Funeral Home.

Martha Harding & Family

Spooner: We wish to express our sincere appreciation to relatives, friends and neighbours for their many acts of kindness, flowers, cards of sympathy and the numerous donations made in memory of our son Terry. Special thanks to Bob and Betty Pollard, Jim and Carol Young and Chuck Jones who opened their homes and hearts to us. Our thanks to the many branches of The Ministry of Natural Resources, Mines and the Ontario Provincial Police across the province for the donations and the bursaries offered in memory of Terry. Our appreciation to Our Lady of Fatima Church in Minden, the pallbearers and to the Brownies for the lovely lunch after the service. These few words were offered to us by Terry's Gramma: Remember Terry - a happy, inquisitive person moving around, most of the time close to somebody - easily trusting he gave his love generously and he was able to openly accept our love for him.

Roy, Trish, Shawna & Trever Spooner & Families

CARD OF THANKS

I was a patient at Minden Hospital recently and I received great care. So I would like to thank Dr. Pignanelli, the nurses and staff who took care of me with great expertise, also the kitchen staff for the good meals. And thanks to our good friends and neighbours Gwen and Charlie Taylor who got me to the hospital when I needed them, and Don Cowle who got me home. Thank you all.
